A Word on Fine Art Pricing

The prices here represent the care and attention to detail that fine-art photography represents. These photographik products take into account the high costs of the creation and production of fine art work.

From time to time heninger photographik will perform, as an in-kind donation, fund-raising photo shoots and products for select non-profit organizations. The prices reflected in such commercial work represents a significant discount on time, effort and services by the photographer to make the images accessible as a fund-raising opportunity for the chosen organization.
